

OLD FIGHTING DICK FETTERLY

RETURNS FROM THE PACIFIC

Veteran of Seven Years In Navy Fighting Japs Since Pearl Harbor

Gunner's Mate Third Class Dick Fetterly, who has spent the last seven years in the Navy, arrived home Wednesday night from the Philippines, making the trip by plane – a distance of 6,000 miles – in four days. Dick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Fetterly, 1801 E. Square Lake Rd., has spent the entire period since Pearl Harbor aboard a cruiser in the Pacific area. He went with the amphibious forces to the invasion of Leyte and remained in the thick of the fight in that area right up to the time of his departure. Dick is completely familiar with the Pacific zones, having been among the islands and waters of that area constantly.

His brother, Tech. Sgt. James J. Fetterly, who came home on furlough over a week ago, was in town today with Dick making the rounds among their friends and acquaintances. James will leave next Monday to return to his base.
